

Cover Letters

Litmus V2 career/resume RAG knowledge-base document.

Length

A cover letter should generally fit on one page and usually contain three to four focused paragraphs.

Purpose

A cover letter should complement the resume by adding narrative context, motivation, personality, and cultural fit rather than repeating the resume.

Opening

A strong opening grabs attention, states the specific role, and briefly conveys genuine enthusiasm or a compelling reason for interest in the company.

Tailoring

Generic one-size-fits-all cover letters are discouraged. Tailor the letter to each role and company and address a named person whenever possible.

Tone

A professional yet conversational tone is recommended: respectful and polished without being overly stiff, corporate, or excessively casual.